MUCH DEPENDS ON COMMITTEES

Democratic State, Central and Executive Boards Attract Keen Interest

There is quite general interest at present in the composition of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committees, which under the party law, in case of the resignation or retirement of Senator James as a candidate for the Senate, will have the duty of filling the vacancy on the Democratic ticket or providing the method by which the vacancy shall be filled.

One member of the State Central Committee, William Bramblett, of Carlisle, who represented the Ninth District, and one member of the State Executive Committee, Finley E. Fogg, of Paintsville, who represented the Tenth District, have died since their election.

Foster Cox, of Carlisle, Ky., has succeeded Mr. Bramblett on the State Central Committee, and John C. Hopkins, of Prestonsburg, has succeeded Mr. Fogg on the State Executive Committee.

Under the party law, if Senator James should retire as candidate for the Senate sixty days before the election, the Governor would appoint a successor to serve until the election, and the committee would nominate a candidate for the short term from November to March 4, and a candidate for the long term to serve for six years from March 4. In case a vacancy should occur within sixty days of the election the Governor would make an appointment to serve until March 4, and the committee would select a candidate for the long term.

The two committees as at present constituted are:

Democratic State Central and Executive Committees

Charles A. Hardin, Chairman, Harrodsburg, Ky.

Charles E. Wright, Secretary, Louisville, Ky.

DEATH OF MR. PARRISH

Mr. Henry Clay Parrish, aged 64 years, died quite suddenly Sunday, Aug. 25th, after an illness of only 24 hours. Deceased was the youngest son of Capt. Grandison Parrish and wife, and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Sarah T. Jeffries, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. Bettie T. Shouse, of the county, and one brother, Richard H. Parrish, of Lockhart, Texas. He was born and lived and died in this county. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, having joined when only 21 years of age. He was a devout member of the Christian church and had ever lived an exemplary life. Funeral services were held at nine o'clock this morning at the home of Mr. W. H. Wilson on Queen street.

NEW BOARD MEMBER

While not officially announced, it is rumored that Judge A. A. Hazelrigg will be designated as a member of the Montgomery County Local Draft Board, to succeed Col. A. W. Hamilton, deceased. Judge Hazelrigg is well acquainted with the duties of the place, having been acting as Government Appeal Agent and being a man of high character and splendid ability, will make a very acceptable member.

—W. S. S.—

NEW TELEPHONE MANAGER

Mr. J. G. Davis, of Munfordsville, Ky., arrived Thursday and has assumed his duties as manager of the local exchange of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company. Mr. Davis takes the place of Mr. McNish, who goes to Paducah to become District Traffic Chief. Mr. Davis comes highly recommended as a competent and experienced man and we welcome him.

—W. S. S.—

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED.

George Wood Owens, former City Clerk of Maysville, has been arrested on a charge of embezzling over $6,000 of the funds of that city. He is under bond and it is understood his friends are trying to raise enough cash to pay up his shortage. Mr. Owens is well known in this city where he has frequently visited.

Eleventh District—J. N. Meadows, Jamestown, Ky.

War Board's Order Reduces Circulation

Of All Weekly Newspapers

WAR INDUSTRIES BOARD REQUIRES WEEKLY PAPERS TO CUT CIRCULATIONS 15 PER CENT SEPT. 15.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The order reducing the amount of print paper that may be used by weekly newspapers by 15 per cent has been prepared by the pulp and paper section of the war industries board, and will be effective September 15.

Publishers of weekly newspapers must arrange for a reduction of 15 per cent in their circulation beginning with September 15, in order to meet the requirements of the war industries board. The method of making such reductions will be largely left to each publisher, who will work out the details of the problem for his own paper. At the meeting of the country weekly publishers held in Chicago and called by Guy U. Hardy, president of the National Editorial Association, at the request of T. E. Donnelley, chairman of the pulp and paper section, it was generally felt that the following methods would be effective for most cases:

"An increase in the subscription price of the paper, especially where the price is less than $2 a year.

"The discontinuance of all subscriptions that are not renewed and paid in advance at the time the subscriptions expire.

"The elimination of all free copies except one to each advertiser.

"The elimination of all exchanges except where the papers received in exchange are absolutely essential to the conduct of the paper."

Publishers of weekly newspapers will be supplied by the war industries board with blanks for the purpose of reporting the amount of paper used by them each month from September 1, 1917, to September 1, 1918. The statements made by the publishers will be in the form of sworn affidavits and each month for the next 12 they will be required to make a sworn statement showing the amount of paper consumed during

All subscribers who are in arrears on the above-named date will be dropped from our list.—PAY UP TODAY.

LOYAL CITIZEN ANSWERS CALL

Col. A. W. Hamilton, a Gallant and Patriotic Citizen, Answers the Final Summons

Col. A. W. Hamilton, Chairman of the Montgomery County Draft Board, and an honored citizen of this city, died at his home on High street last Wednesday evening, August 21, after a short illness of uraemic poisoning. Col. Hamilton had not been in good health for the past several months but the seriousness of his illness was not known to his closest friends.

Col. Hamilton was a son of the late Archibald Hamilton and Henrietta Lindsay Hamilton and was sixty-five years of age. He was born in this county and spent a majority of his days in Old Montgomery. For many years he was presiding judge at noted race courses in Chicago and Los Angeles, and was known to race horse men as an honest and fearless official. During the present war he has been chairman of the local draft board, and we doubt if a more efficient and fearless official has served on any board in the United States. Col. Hamilton played no favorites, every case he endeavored honestly to decide according to the law and in our opinion, he made a record of which any citizen should be proud. He was not a man without feeling, and his deepest sympathy was with the soldier boys and their families when they were called to risk their lives for the sake of their country.

In the passing of Col. Hamilton Mt. Sterling has lost a gallant and noble gentleman, one that was known and admired by countless friends throughout the entire United States. He was patriotic to the core and was very liberal with both his time and means and was an ardent supporter of the administration as lived. Col. Hamilton was a man of beautiful and charming manners and was a delightful conversationalist. He had a tender heart and was ever ready to help any one in need, and no sacrifice was too great for him to aid suffering humanity.

For the life of Col. Hamilton the world is far better and in our humble opinion he has done much to make it "a safe place in which to live," and in his life there were many noble traits of character which are worthy of emulation.

Deceased was a member of the Episcopal Church and the funeral services were conducted Friday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. R. G. Stoner by his pastor, Dr. W. R. Dye, with burial in Machpelah cemetery. The ritual burial services of the Knights Templar were held at the grave.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY IN TWO MORE DRAFT CALLS

Montgomery county is included in two more draft calls made the past week by Provost Marshal Crowder.

The following limited service men leave Friday, August 30th, at 11:34 o'clock for Camp Greene, at Charlotte, N. C. These men are ordered to report at the office of the local board on August 30th, at 9 a. m.: James William Wyatt, Strauder Witt, Nathan Morris, Chester Allen Halton, John Williams. Seven hundred white men have been ordered to report at Camp Taylor on September 3rd, from Kentucky and of this number Montgomery county is allotted 14. The men to be sent will be named within the next few days. Several large calls from this county are expected for next month.

—W. S. S.—

26 MORE REGISTER SATURDAY

Following is a complete list of twenty-six men registered Saturday, who since June 5 have reached the age of 21:

COL. HAMILTON'S WILL

The last will and testament of Col. A. W. Hamilton, deceased, has been admitted to probate by County Judge E. W. Senff and by its terms, after expressing his wishes as to his burial, he bequeaths all household effects, etc., personal to his house and home, to Miss Ida Hamilton (daughter of his first cousins Ashby Hamilton and Jesse Lindsey), as well as his interest in the family burial lot in Machpelah cemetery and in the burial lot at Paris, Ky.

The residue of his estate is then bequeathed in fee simple one half to Miss Ida Hamilton and one-half to Miss Bessie Lane, to whom decedent was betrothed.

Miss Ida Hamilton and Judge R. H. Winn are designated as Executors, but the former being a non-resident of the state, Judge Winn qualified alone.

The will was executed August 19, in the presence of Messrs. Geo. G. Hamilton and Chas. D. Grubbs.

The estate is valued at approximately $15,000.00.

NEW DRAFT BILL PASSES

18 to 45 to Be New Age Limit—No Deferred Classes for Youths. Vote Stood 336 to 2

The new Manpower Bill extending the selective draft to all men between the ages of 18 and 45 years was passed by the House Saturday with only minor changes in the original draft of the War Department.

On the first roll call only two negative votes were cast by Representative London, of New York, the socialist, and Representative Gordon, of Ohio, Democrat. The final vote was announced as 336 to 2.

The final vote was preceded by three day's debate, during which the chief contention was an amendment to defer the calling of youths from 18 to 20 years until older men had been summoned. A final effort was made by Chairman Dent to place the eighteen-year-old boys in a deferred class, but a motion to re-commit the bill to the Military Affairs Committee with instructions to incorporate that amendment was lost 191 to 146.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where leaders predict its passage early this week. The Senate plans to substitute the House bill for the measure favorably reported by the Military Committee of that body and thus expedite its final enactment. Congressional leaders hope to send the measure to the President by the latter part of the week.

An attempt in the House to insert a work or fight amendment by which those exempted for military service on occupational grounds would be required to remain at their civil tasks, failed, 52 to 91. The amendment was declared against strikes and which characterized by officials of the American Federation of Labor as a conscription of labor.

The House reversed its action Friday in voting to include members of Congress in the draft. By a rising vote, 89 to 143 it defeated an amendment by Representative Gregg of Texas, which would make members of Congress, State Legislatures and Federal and State executive officers liable to draft.

An amendment by Representative Smith of New York, to exempt police officers in cities of more than 500,000 population and designed to relieve the situation in New York, where a shortage of police officers is said to be threatened was defeated.

An amendment by Representative Thredway of Massachusetts, which was adopted provides for the appointment of special examiners in local conscription districts for the re-examination of men placed in deferred classification as a means of fair combing the deferred classes for additional men for active service.

Chairman Dent of the House Military Committee read a letter from Secretary Baker in which the letter set forth his objections to the McKenzie amendment, which was defeated Friday and which provided for deferring the calling of youths from 18 to 20 years. Mr. Baker said he believed the amendment would seriously impair the ability of the War Department to get the men in accordance with the military program.

THE FUTURE LIFE

Harry Lauder, who lost his only son in action in France, has spent much time in the battle zone singing for the entertainment of the comrades in arms of that lost son, and he says this of the belief of the soldiers in a future life:

"I spent many days in the trenches, the rest camps, the hospitals, and in the surrounding towns and the most definite impression I carried away was one concerning the spiritual atmosphere which surrounds the French and English soldiers in France. I talked with some of the men for hours at a time about their thoughts of home, about their feeling toward the enemy, but the one thing I came away with, above all other impressions, was the conviction that every single one of these men, no matter what manner of lives they had lived before, now possess a calm, clear conviction that if they fall in the thick of the fight, they will pass into the life beyond.

"That's why, we take such chances, one man told me simply. Do you think for a moment that if we thought that life held nothing for us than the earthly body we possess, we would fight with such confidence and eagerness? We would not be able to, because we would be doing everything in our power to preserve this life of ours. But seeing men die as I have seen them, I know better than not to believe in a future life. And because we have no fear of death, every one of us fling ourselves over the bags on to the Huns with a fierce, almost savage joy. We are almost Japanese in our fatalism, and because that spirit is sweeping among our men we are going to win this war. We don't believe it possible that men who go into battle, knowing that they are fighting for a righteous cause, and unafraid of death, can be beaten back forever. Some day, at some point, the enemy must weaken and then we will sweep over the top and nothing will hold us back. We know it just as surely as we know the sun will rise tomorrow."

LIBERTY BOND DISLOYALISTS ARE SENTENCED

Cleveland, O.—The men who believed that they could not be touched by the law for Liberty Bond dealings of almost any character whatever are learning their mistake.

The recent arrest and conviction and sentencing of men who have depended upon alluring ads to lead Liberty Bond owners who needed the money into their offices ought to have a chilling effect upon other brokers who have built their hopes upon the same foundation.

Isadore Gantz, pawnbroker of Farrell, Pa., was arraigned and held on $1,000 bail for the November grand jury session. He advertised to buy bonds, and then offered the bondholders who responded to his ad about 80 cents on the dollar for their bonds.

LEWIS B. FRANKLIN.

He argued to anyone who questioned his policy of cutting the market price of the bonds, that anyone had a right to sell any bond he owned at any price he chose to take—and could get; and that anyone had a right to buy a bond at any price he saw fit to offer—and could get the bond for. It is the same argument which has been used by all of the bond price cutters. And in ordinary times it would hold, probably. But Mr. Gantz learned, when he was before the district attorney, that the United States is at war, and that there are, in consequence, limitations to certain activities which do not exist in time of peace.

In order to give an excuse for his offered price for the safest securities in the world—United States government bonds—Gantz was forced to argue that they were not worth much more than that. His prosecution was therefore possible under the sedition law.

W. S. Bennett of Youngstown was sent to the workhouse within the last few days for similar suggestions, and other cases are in process of being prosecuted in the fourth federal district at the present time.

Lewis B. Franklin, director of the United States war loan organization, in addressing a meeting of the Liberty Loan county chairmen of this district, emphasized forcefully the importance of keeping one's bonds, and of urging other people to do so.

"NOT A NATION"

They said that we were not a nation;
Just a medley from various lands;
No national heart and no national soul;
With no hope and no wish to join hands.

Nothing to hold us together;
No aims and no dreams that we shared;
Ideals and backgrounds all different;
We couldn't make war—if we dared.

Then the word blared forth to the country,
"Close ranks! For the Flag of us all!"
And the faith that brought us together
Shone out at the Colors' call.

One cry came back from the people,
From Latin and Norman and Slav:
"America! Freedom is threatened!
"Take all that we are and have.

"We know what we sought when we came here;
"What we're working for, every-one,
"And that work has bound us together,
"It will hold till eternity's done.

"We give you our lives and our dollars,
"We will work; we will fight; we will die;
"For the faith that has builded a nation
"From the four winds of earth, and the sky."

ONE THOUSAND NURSES A WEEK FOR EIGHT WEEKS

Surgeon General Gorgas of the United States Army has called upon the American Red Cross to enroll a thousand nurses a week for the ensuing eight weeks for military service at home and abroad.

The Red Cross has set its organization machinery in motion for the purpose of complying with the Surgeon General's request.

The nurses for military service have been enrolling through the Red Cross since the United States entered the war, at the rate of about one thousand a month. During the recent special effort put forth to obtain nurses, the enrollment increased about threefold. In order to meet the most recent request of the Surgeon General, that rate will not only have to be maintained but increased materially.

The Surgeon General's call is as follows:

"In view of the great need of a large increase in the number of nurses required for service with the army at home and abroad, I call upon your organization as the chief nurse recruiting agency of the army, to employ every possible means to increase the enrollment of nurses for immediate assignment to duty.

"With the contemplated increase in the army both at home and overseas, there must be a proportionate increase in the number of nurses in the service. The army today is growing faster than the nurse corps is increasing, and as the armies overseas enter the front line trenches in greater numbers, the greater will be the need for nurses in the army nurse corps.

"Therefore, I urge the American Red Cross through its agencies, to bring to the attention of the trained nurses of this country the necessity of immediate offer of service and their enrollment in the army nurses' corps.

"I hesitate to deal in concrete numbers, but I desire to emphasize the fact that I need today a very material increase in the army nurse corps and desire this increase in the ratio of at least a thousand a week for the next two months."

With reference to this emergency call for nurses, Miss Jane A. Delano, director department of nursing of the American Red Cross, made the following statement:

"The eight thousand graduate nurses called for by the army, in groups of one thousand a week, are in addition to more than twelve thousand nurses already supplied by the American Red Cross to the United States government for active war service.

"With complete confidence in the answer which the fifty thousand graduates not yet enrolled in the United States will make to this summons to care for our sick and wounded, I have called upon the Red Cross agencies and all training school superintendents to carry the message quickly to every graduate nurse remaining in their communities. We plan to bring this call personally to each of the nurses not yet in war service and I feel that all who are physically able to render the military service will enroll at once.

"I know the sterling character of the American trained nurse over many years. I have seen her self-sacrificing consecration to duty. She is intelligently patriotic. She is proud to be chosen from millions of women anxious to care for the sick, as the representative of American womanhood, permitted to wear the army and navy uniform in our military establishments.

"There will be no need to draft nurses—American nurses would not thus belie the traditions of their profession. In all wars they have been prompt volunteers of mercy and the spirit of Florence Nightingale is still alive.

"I would, however, urge upon each graduate nurse eligible for active service, the great necessity for enrollment. The army must have these one thousand nurses a week and I am hopeful that within a month the Red Cross will have the entire thousand listed and awaiting orders."

Nurses wishing to enroll for active service or for some defense nursing can obtain full information from any Red Cross chapter or nursing committee.

PIPELESS CALORIC FURNACE
The Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

Over fifty thousand homes, many of them in this state, have found this furnace the economical, common-sense method of keeping comfortable. They bought on a guarantee of real fuel saving and perfect satisfaction, and the Caloric made good.

One register delivers all the heat from the fuel directly into your living rooms and draws out the cold air, insuring an abundance of balmy, moist warmth right where you want it. The cellar is just right for the storage of perishable products.

The Caloric can be installed in a day. It is a triumph of engineering skill that embodies many patented features which have made it the leader and which are not found in imitations. Come in and see this wonderful furnace. We will tell you frankly whether it is adapted to your home. If we say it is, we will give you our personal guarantee that it will make good or we will take it out. Come in and talk it over.

ONE THOUSAND NURSES A WEEK

Surgeon General Gorgas's appeal to the Red Cross for at least one thousand nurses a week for service in the Army Nurse Corps, emphasizes a pressing situation.

Casualties among the American troops on the Western front are increasing in proportion to the intensified fighting. Those inspiring, yet saddening rolls of honor are growing larger every day. The glory of the American arms, which hourly fires the souls of our people, must not lack the reward of proper care for those who fall in battle. While the response on the part of the nurses of America to the appeals already made reflects the highest patriotism and a fine spirit of sacrifice, increasing numbers of nurses must be secured to meet the conditions that now are forced upon us.

The time for more and greater sacrifices is at hand. Unless the enrollment of nurses continues there will not be enough to serve our wounded soldiers in France. Certainly nothing more than to state the necessity ought to be required to supply all the nurses that the government needs. The same patriotism that animates our fighting legions dwell in the hearts and souls of American womanhood. To understand the call should be to heed it.

Every Red Cross chapter should resolve immediately to supply more than its quota for this grand service. A pull together will bring the results desired in short order.

WOMEN WELL ORGANIZED FOR LOAN DRIVE

Cleveland, O.—There will be a women's Liberty Loan committee in more than 150 of the 169 counties of the fourth federal district, by the time the campaign opens for the fourth Liberty Loan. The district, which includes all of Ohio, 56 counties of Kentucky, a portion of West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania, has some very sparsely settled counties, in which a separate organization will not be formed, but they will be the only exceptions. In the third campaign, which ended May 4th, the women of the district sold $72,238,800 worth of bonds. It will take a great deal more—twice as much—to satisfy them this time.

MRS. FRANK MÜHLHAUSER.

"Our task is to be much greater," said Mrs. Frank Muhlhauser, "both because the loan itself will be for about $6,000,000 instead of $3,000,000 as last time, and because we are determined that the women will bring in a larger proportion of the total than we did before."

"We are going to do it by going after the people who did not buy at all before, who can buy only small bonds, perhaps, but whose buyings count up tremendously if you get them all, and by making the people realize the necessity of conserving labor and raw materials for the government—and putting the money saved as a result into bonds. We ought to be able to do that better than men can do it because we are the keepers of the American pocketbook."

SALARY INCREASE SHOULD BOOM NURSE ENLISTMENT

Pay of nurses, enrolled by the American Red Cross for military service, has been raised to $75 a month for overseas duty and to $60 a month for duty at hospitals at American camps and cantonments.

Announcement of the increase has just been received at Lake Division Red Cross headquarters. Heretofore $60 a month was paid to nurses sent overseas and $50 a month to those kept at military work this side the Atlantic.

Miss Anna Gladwin, acting director of nursing at Division headquarters, says that the increase in pay should result in the enrollment of many more nurses.

"There are many nurses who have wanted to enroll with the Red Cross and could not because of the low pay and family obligations," Miss Gladwin says.

"This new scale provides salaries which are about on the same level with those paid in hospitals."

"In addition, the government provides the nurses with the same War Risk Insurance as is provided soldiers and sailors."

Minister's Daughter Rejoices Over Vin Hepatica

Had Little Hope of Ever Getting Relief Until the Famous Vin Hepatica Prescription Was Recommended to Her—Takes It and Gets Well—Father Also Testifies.

Mrs. Robbin Jones, of Winchester, Tenn., daughter of the well-known evangelist, E. L. Cambron, says this regarding the wonderful relief she obtained from the use of Vin Hepatica:

"I had suffered almost all my life from stomach trouble. I could eat but few things without suffering agony. I had little hope of ever getting well. My food would sour, could scarcely rest any and was awfully nervous, but now I am rejoiced to say that I have at last found relief."

"I began taking Vin Hepatica about four weeks ago, and have gained several pounds. I eat lots of things I haven't been able to eat for years, and without experiencing any trouble afterwards. Vin Hepatica is a great medicine."

Right underneath her statement comes the following from her father, E. L. Cambron, the well-known evangelist:

"I think it strange," said he, "that we have not been able to find a medicine that would do the work Vin Hepatica has done. Our daughter's condition was something terrible. My wife and I were blaming ourselves, thinking we had wrecked her life by giving her so much strong medicine while she was a child. We now rejoice over the relief she has gotten from this wonderful Vin Hepatica prescription. She is an entirely different person, and we owe our thanks to her friend who induced her to try this wonderful remedy."

We invite you to come into our store, and try this great Vin Hepatica prescription on our recommendation. W. S. Lloyd, Mt. Sterling, Ky., C. W. Peters, Sharpsburg, Ky.

NEW DRAFT TO AFFECT 250,000 KENTUCKIANS

The first call for Kentucky selectives under the provisions of the Administration's man power bill, extending the draft ages, will be issued probably the latter part of November, Maj. Henry F. Rhodes, head of the selective service in Kentucky said:

If the bill passes, as urged by the Administration—extending the ages from 18 to 45 years—Maj. Rhodes estimates that between 240,000 and 250,000 men will be affected in Kentucky. Of this number, he said, 75,000 or 80,000 men will pass the physical examination and be ready for a call to the colors.

With the extension of the draft ages, he said, there is little probability of deferred classes being called at all. Youths who have attained their twenty-first birthday since June 5 last will be called into service the latter part of September or the first of October.

Kelly-Springfield TIRES

are invariably found in good company; they are always seen on the kind of car you'd like to own. There's a distinction about a Kelly tire—an obvious hall-mark of quality—which is as unmistakable as the impress of good breeding on a man or woman.

But Kelly-Springfield Tires not only look good, they are good—all through; good enough to justify their sale upon a mileage basis running all the way from 5000 to 7500 miles according to size. This doesn't mean that you will get only from five thousand to seventy-five hundred miles out of a Kelly tire; it means that you won't get any less and that you will probably get twice as much.

Think this over before you let "price" influence your judgment.

general military service in September, and there are enough men in Class 1 at present to fill this call.

In addition to this call for registrants qualified for general service, between 1,500 and 2,000 men held for special or limited service will also be called the latter part of this month or the first of September. About half of the number called will go to Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga.

Maj. Rhodes said he has just received notice that 3,150,000 forms had been shipped him by the War Department, and these forms must be distributed by his office to the various local boards throughout the State.

Plans for the registration next month, as provided by the man power bill, are now almost complete, Maj. Rhodes said. Names of all the men who will act as registrars in the 120 counties are now in his hands.

MORE ABOUT TAXATION

Last year, under pressure from the State Tax Commission, our Assessor raised our assessment over two millions of dollars. Notwithstanding that unprecedented increase, the Frankfort crowd raised it another million. Now we are told, the State Tax Commission is insisting that the County Tax Commissioner require another increase and that he is adding twenty per cent. (over last year and the increase) to farm lands and ten per cent. to city lots.

We appreciate the fact that little can be done under Mr. Stanley's Jesse James tax law, but if we were a farm owner of Montgomery county we would refuse to voluntarily raise our assessment one penny, over last year and value it in the column provided for that purpose, which one has the legal right to do, at just what our County Board of Supervisors placed it, with the increase added from Frankfort. While it will likely be increased, we would not be a party to it, even by acquiescence.

W. S. S.

Quite a few persons who signed pledge cards to buy War Savings Stamps, have not yet redeemed them at the post office, while many who have bought have not taken the amount their financial condition justifies. Now Montgomery county must sell its quota and the sooner it does so, the better. We must back our brave boys in France and keep the Hun on the run. Remember it takes money, as well as men, to win a war. The security offered is the best in the world and the rate of interest (four per cent. compounded quarterly) makes them the most attractive investment ever offered by the government. Don't stand back and wait for some one else, but go to the post office today and buy all you can and get the habit of buying regularly. Thrive by thrift. Don't be a spender, be a saver.

"BONE DRY" NATION FROM NEXT JULY TO END OF WAR

Nationwide "bone dry" prohibition effective July 1, 1919, and continuing during the war at least, loomed large Monday as a strong probability through compromise negotiations in Congress.

An agreement for passage of legislation to stop sales of all intoxicating beverages on that date, leaders of both wet and dry factions in the Senate stated last night, seemed to be in sight. President Wilson was represented as not opposing the legislation and senators believed the House would accept the proposal under negotiation. A definite "gentleman's agreement" in the Senate is expected within a few days.

The war time prohibition bill pending in the Senate came up for consideration under the unanimous consent agreement made several weeks ago, giving it right of way until disposed of, but was temporarily displaced, while the Senate proceeded with the manpower bill. Then leaders supporting and fighting the prohibition legislation proceeded with corridor and cloakroom discussions on the compromise.

As it now stands, the bill would stop sale of intoxicants January 1 next. At President Wilson's suggestion, according to Senator Sheppard, of Texas, prohibition advocate, postponement of the date was agreed to by spokesmen of both factions. The President, it was stated, believes additional time should be given for financial and other adjustments.

In Monday's negotiations most of the prohibition advocates were agreeable to fixing July 1 as the date. They first insisted that it should be April 1, but a majority was said to have consented to the later date. Opponents of the legislation were declared to be convinced that it cannot be defeated and to be satisfied with the proposed extension of time.

Formal conclusion of an agreement is expected to pave the way for passage of the bill by the Senate late this week or early next week.

CUTTING PRICE OF U. S. BONDS IS DANGEROUS

Cleveland, O.—The sentence to the Warrensville workhouse of W. S. Bennett of Youngstown, O., for talking against Liberty Bonds, marks the conclusion of one more of several procedures against this particular kind of disloyalist on the part of the United States attorney's office in this district.

Bennett has talked more against the worth of the bonds as security than against their worthiness in a patriotic sense, apparently having the common conviction that this was a perfectly safe thing to do. He found out that it was not.

The same attitude brought Isadore Gantz, a pawn broker of Farrell, Pa., an arrest several days ago. Gantz advertised that he would buy Liberty Bonds, and when a field man for the Liberty Loan committee of the Pittsburgh area inquired about the price he was paying was told by the broker that he would pay him $40 for a $50 bond. He admitted that some people might pay more but that he could not if he were ever going to make any profit on the transaction. He was arraigned and held under the sedition law.

Other cases similar to his are being investigated by the department of justice at the present time.

A more patently criminal course is being followed by some adventurous and unscrupulous men who are following up the Liberty Bond owners' lists with persuasions to exchange them for worthless securities.

Lewis B. Franklin, director of the United States war loan organization, warned especially against this class of frauds at the recent meeting of Liberty Loan county chairmen of the fourth federal district, which he addressed.

"As important as is your plea to buy bonds," he said, "must be your added plea to keep those bonds. It is to the loss of the individual and also to the decided disadvantage of the government when a bond owner sells his bond at cut price or exchanges it for securities or for merchandise of any kind."

LEWIS B. FRANKLIN.

"It hurts the market for bonds, of course, to have the bonds of one issue being floated on the market at the time that the government is trying to sell another issue. It frustrates the purpose of the distribution of the bonds. It prevents the economy in purchasing which is one of the advantages of these bond issues. It takes the money for old bonds which ought to be put into a new issue. And moreover it loses to the owner the advantage of an absolutely certain, safe, good paying security, which will be redeemed at full value when the time for redemption comes. It leads them in many instances to put their money into schemes which are entirely fake."

THE POCKETS

In that pocket in France that half million of Huns Had collected their powder, their shells and their guns, Their hearts set on going, the war report runs, For a Paris week-end, so to speak.

But before the big party our Yank boys stepped in And with polius and Tommies caused Heinie to spin Clear about in his tracks and start back for Berlin— And the pocket was bare in a week.

In the pockets at home we have billions of gold We've collected for labor or things that we've sold, And the channels into which that pelf might be rolled Would be harder to count than the sands.

But before any rolls let our Yanks over here Gather 'round from the front and the sides and the rear Till the pockets are emptied—or emptied as near As the need of our Uncle demands.

TO HINDENBURG LINE BY OCTOBER 1, PARIS BELIEF

There is no mistaking the fact that the whole German resistance at critical points show signs of cracking and I am informed from Paris that there is a very general belief in that city that the Hindenburg line will be in Allied hands by October 1. This is obviously extreme optimism but it finds an interesting confirmation in the message Clemenceau has just addressed to the General Councils of France. The German is still fighting bravely and with skill and determination but the hopeful and significant thing is that despite his colossal efforts he is being defeated heavily and continuously.

Ludendorff's situation is not yet desperate, but it is becoming exceedingly perilous. He has been unable or unwilling to imitate Hindenburg's method and make a swift retreat to the line on which the old marshal stood from March 1917, to the spring of this year. Lingered, Ludendorff has suffered heavy local defeats and an ever mounting wastage of men and material. He is not inflicting greater losses upon Foch than he is suffering. On the contrary, his losses are far more considerable and the morale of his army is breaking down under steady retreats. Not a single retirement like that after the second Marne, which was orderly and left his soldiers with the sense of a strategic movement, but retreats after local defeats each of which increased the depression and pessimism of his army and increased the sense of superiority felt by his foes.

We have still to keep our feet solidly on the ground, despite the amazing turn of events and the ever growing magnitude of our successes. The decisive stage of our campaign or our offensive of this year has not yet come. It cannot come until the battle for the Hindenburg line begins. The battle may begin at any moment but if it does it will be on new fields, north of Arras or east of Rheims or in both regions, thus recalling the double thrust of Champagne and Loos in 1915.

In a word, Ludendorff's center is now that beaten host retiring upon the Hindenburg line, which offers it a possible relaying ground, but in the nature of things, an Allied attack upon the flanks, turning the Hindenburg line and abolishing the position to which the beaten center is retiring in manifest disorder, is the stroke to be expected. If it comes then it will be followed by a real disaster. For the beaten center will then have to respite short of the Meuse and this means a new retreat without any chance to reorganize.

AN ORDINANCE

Be it ordained by the Mayor and Board of Council of the City of Mt. Sterling, Ky., that in addition to the duties as now prescribed by law for the City Engineer, he shall in addition thereto be empowered, and he is hereby empowered, to take any necessary proceedings by way of either civil or penal process, for the removal or condemnation of unsafe, walls or buildings, signs, awnings or other obstructions, or compelling such unsafe places to be planked off or railed off or otherwise protect the traveling public, and, after giving at least three days' notice to any person, firm or corporation to remove any such unsafe wall, building, sign, awning or other obstruction, or to plank off or to protect the person, firm or corporation so notified and failing to act as required by the City Engineer, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon arrest and conviction be fined not less than $10 for each offense, and each day said nuisance is allowed shall be deemed a separate offense.

And, it shall be the duty of said City Engineer, as well as the Chief of Police upon notice by said City Engineer, or either of them, to swear out warrants for the enforcement of this ordinance. No additional compensation for such service shall be allowed the engineer.

This ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage as required by law.

Notice to Subscribers

Owing to the tremendous cost in producing a newspaper in these times of war, we are forced with this issue to discontinue many papers which have heretofore been sent as complimentary. As much as we regret to do this, we feel it our patriotic duty, as the Government has requested all newspapers to discontinue sending free copies to anyone, except bona fide advertisers.

We have also been making a strong effort to collect all subscriptions accounts due The Advocate, and in some instances have given accounts to an attorney for collection with instructions to proceed to collect same by legal process, if necessary. All subscribers being over one year in arrears will be stricken from our mailing list after September 1st. It is not that we doubt the credit of our subscribers but it is absolutely necessary that we keep our list paid up in order to exist. It is not the desire of the management of this paper to send a single copy to anyone who does not want it, but it does expect compensation for all papers mailed to subscribers and if you are receiving the Advocate and do not expect to pay for it you will do us a favor by refusing to accept the paper from the postoffice.

A more interesting and a more critical fortnight than that which is before us is impossible to imagine. The present hour is the best since the war began for the Allied cause. It holds out great present possibility, insures ultimate military decision over the enemy, absolute and unqualified.—Frank H. Simonds.

Packers' Profits Are Regulated

The public should understand that the profits of the packers have been limited by the Food Administration since November 1, 1917. For this purpose, the business of Swift & Company is now divided into three classes:

Class 1 includes such products as beef, pork, mutton, oleomargarine and others that are essentially animal products. Profits are limited to 9 per cent of the capital employed in these departments, (including surplus and borrowed money), or not to exceed two and a half cents on each dollar of sales.

Class 2 includes the soap, glue, fertilizer, and other departments more or less associated with the meat business. Many of these departments are in competition with outside businesses whose profits are not limited. Profits in this class are restricted to 15 per cent of the capital employed.

Class 3 includes outside investments, such as those in stock yards, and the operation of packing plants in foreign countries. Profits in this class are not limited.

Total profits for all departments together in 1918 will probably be between three and four per cent on an increased volume of sales.

The restrictions absolutely guarantee a reasonable relation between live stock prices and wholesale meat prices, because the packer's profit cannot possibly average more than a fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Since the profits on meat (Class 1) are running only about 2 cents on each dollar of sales, we have to depend on the profits from soap, glue, fertilizer (Class 2, also limited) and other departments, (Class 3) to obtain reasonable earnings on capital.

Swift & Company is conducting its business so as to come within these limitations.

LEST WE FORGET

So violate is our American temperament, so confident are we of our strength, so incredulous about German might, so incapable of believing in German guile, that we no sooner hear of an allied victory than we think the war is practically ended. Everywhere we hear people prognosticating an immediate or speedy peace.

There is something we ought to remember. If we forget it we shall do so to our doom. It is that if this war were to stop today the Germans would be triumphantly victorious and sure of the ultimate domination of the world.

By what means are we to bring this terrible truth home to this nation? We can only repeat and repeat again and yet again that Germany began this war with sixty-eight millions of people, and that today, because of her conquests, she is the absolute master of one hundred and seventy-eight millions! Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria, Serbia, Turkey, Belgium, a large part of France, immense regions of Russia lie prostrate at her feet and out of them she could recruit an army of thirty million men.

We cannot rightfully forget, again, that she has added to her wealth sums which stagger the imagination. The revenues she has appropriated, the money she has stolen, the art treasures she has carried away amount to sums inconceivable even by the authors of the Arabian Nights.

Nor can we fail to remember that if the war should end today the German scheme for an empire embracing the whole center of Europe is practically accomplished, nor that her egotism is unabated, nor her belief that might makes right abandoned, nor her "militarism" cured, nor that she is planning for the next war and for the commercial conquest of the globe.

Our task is not half done. We have only just commenced. The grip of Germany on the Balkan nations must be broken, for it is like the grip of a bulldog on the throat of a man. She must be forced to give up her ill-gotten gains at the point of the sword. We do not want her rightful territory. Let her keep the patrimony given her by her fathers. But the plunder taken upon the highways she must restore, by heaven! And she must break her sword!

We have not yet discovered the depth of her infamy. We do not yet sincerely realize that she can be as bad as she is. We are too likely to believe in her honesty when she makes another offer of peace. She would laugh in her sleeve if we would stop fighting today and leave her in possession of her Eastern conquests on the terms of surrendering those in the West.

Let us not forget that the guile of the Germans has never been overestimated. In every deal they have made with other nations they have gone beyond the wildest guess of their greed and dishonor.

About all other nations but the Germans and the Turks we may believe the best; about them it is our solemn, sacred duty to believe the worst.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION RECEIVED BY STUDENTS OF FUGAZZI SCHOOL INSURES THEIR SUCCESS

So says Miss Ada Banahan in a letter to Miss Fugazzi, which we are publishing in full below, as it is typical of the letters we are receiving all the time from our former students.

June 25, 1917.

Miss Irene Fugazzi,
Fugazzi School of Business,
Lexington, Ky.

Dear Miss Fugazzi:

Just a few lines to express to you my appreciation of what you and your excellent school have done for me.

I am holding a fine position which you helped me to secure and feel that it was your thorough, conscientious training that made me capable of holding it. The individual instruction and personal attention which you give your students insure their success. I shall always be glad to recommend your school to anyone who desires to become really efficient.

Yours very sincerely,

ADA BANAHAN.

If you have average ability we can do for you what we did for Miss Banahan.

Two Adjoining Farms In Boyle Co. Kentucky

187 Acres for J. C. RANKIN

107 Acres for SLAMA & WILDER

LOCATION—Two and one half miles East of DANVILLE, on gravel road one half mile from DANVILLE and LANCASTER PIKE.

DESCRIPTION—The Rankin farm of 187 acres is one of the most DESIRABLE in Boyle County. 50 acres in corn, 12 acres in clover, 22 acres in wheat stubble, 20 acres of stubble sown to timothy, balance in grass. Well fenced and everlasting water.

IMPROVEMENTS—New modern seven-room bungalow, with basement, halls, porches, bath-room and glass enclosed porch. EQUIPPED WITH WATER WORKS AND LIGHTS AND FURNACE. ONE OF THE BEST EQUIPPED FARMS AND MOST DESIRABLE HOMES IN CENTRAL KENTUCKY.

Tenant house, large stock barn, two tobacco barns, 300 barrel crib, cow and calf barn, concrete water tower and water troughs, gasoline engine and hydraulic ram for power, all necessary out buildings. Beautiful lawn and shade trees.

BRING YOUR WIFE WITH YOU. THE FARM AND IMPROVEMENTS WILL PLEASE THE MOST FASTIDIOUS AND YOU WILL BUY IT FOR "KEEPS."

THE SLAMA AND WILDER FARM—of 107 acres adjoins and is mostly bottom land and very rich. 40 acres in corn, 2 acres in hemp, 3 acres in tobacco, 18 acres oat stubble, 1½ acres alfalfa balance in grass, everlasting water.

IMPROVEMENTS—New four room cottage, new 36x48 tobacco barn, dairy house and cistern. The portion of the farm in cultivation was broken out of Blue Grass Sod and cultivated in hemp last year.

The Rankin Farm will be sub-divided. The 107 acre farm sold as a whole.

Here is an opportunity to buy 150 to 160 acre tract, a 25 to 30 acre tract, a 107 acre tract or by adding any two just the size you want, or the entire 295 acres.

I sell to suit the bidders. Why do land buyers attend my auction sales and the land ALWAYS SELLS? I pledge my reputation and honor at every sale for a SQUARE DEAL. No buy bidders. Strictly commission basis. I don't have to "BOOST" the owners price to get my fee. From my experience in the business as a farmer I know land values and will offer at public sale ONLY SUCH FARMS as in my judgment will appeal to the buyers. Terms easy. Don't fail to attend this sale or you may regret it. The owners at the farm, or myself, or W. E. Moss, will show the farms at any time.

PLAIN NATURAL IRON BEST TONIC

Costs but a Fraction What Weaker Preparations Sell for—A Spoonful In a Glass of Water a Dose

The absolute proof that medicinal iron would help the blood and strengthen people wonderfully has caused many chemists to perfect more or less efficient iron tonics and more or less efficient tablets.

For most people, however, the writer would say that just plain highly concentrated Acid Iron Mineral is better, far cheaper and stronger and goes from two to six times as far.

A bottle of Acid Iron Mineral, kept handy and a teaspoonful poured in a glass of drinking water after meals, makes a delightful, very unusual and highly beneficial tonic and strengthener, and if the blood needs enriching and purifying it would be hard to find anything that does it better or rids the system of rheumatism and kindred ailments quicker than just plain concentrated Acid Iron Mineral, which is the name for non-alcoholic natural iron.

It also has a beneficial effect upon appetite and digestion, and the kidneys soon show its effects.

(Note:—A I M does not act as a laxative and should one be needed to stimulate the liver or bowels a good laxative tablet like A-I-M Liver Pills is recommended.

Science Solves Problem

INDIGESTION IS CALLED THE GREAT AMERICAN MALADY

We hurry, we eat too fast, we eat unsuitable foods and therefore pay the penalty in digestive disorders that keep us feeling out of sorts a great part of our time. Physicians, in dealing with this condition have found out that drastic and harsh mineral drugs, while they may give temporary relief, nearly always fail to give permanent benefit and their patients must continually keep dosing drugging their systems. Recently a group of eminent specialists and chemists have perfected a remedy composed of purely vegetable ingredients with pepsin, which they called Jay's Pepsotone, which promises to permanently do away with disorders of the digestive tract. It has been given exhaustive tests and in a wide variety of cases and where there has been no permanent injury to the organs of digestion, this remedy has in every case brought quick and permanent relief. Just a few doses is sufficient to correct the trouble. It is now placed on sale in nearly every good drug store. Try Jay's Pepsotone and you will recommend it. Guaranteed, will not gripe or purge. If your dealer cannot supply you, send 50c or $1.00 to the Pepsotone Company, Huntington, W. Va., for a package.

FRUITS OF VICTORY

The Germans have twice lost the war at the Marne, as our leading journalistic military critic points out. In 1914 they "lost the chance to win the war in the first campaign." In 1918 they "lost the chance to win the war in any campaign; that is, to win it by a decisive military triumph." Thus Frank H. Simonds, in the New York Tribune, summarized the situation after the smashing operations which wiped out the Marne salient and won for General Foch the title of Marshal of France. With the retaking of Soissons and the clearing of all the ground south of the Vesle, remarks the Brooklyn Eagle, "the Allied victory was made as complete and conclusive as was the first battle of the Marne of which it is in many respects an amazing repetition." As a result of what Premier Lloyd George characterizes as "the most brilliant counter-stroke in the annals of the war," the immediate aspect of the conflict has been changed as if by magic. German initiative on all sectors, for the present at least, seems to have been paralyzed. "The German mind, as well as the German armies, is now on the defensive," remarks the Baltimore Sun. "The Marne defeat has produced unspeakable scenes of despair in Berlin," admits the Berliner Tageblatt, one of the principal newspapers of Germany, which adds: "Such outbreaks of utter discouragement and downheartedness never before were witnessed." The second battle of the Marne "has changed the whole intellectual as well as military aspect of the war," notes the Washington Herald, which goes on to say:

"The Foch counter-offensive has thrust the probe deeply into German psychology, and what do we find? A nation which is nearing the end of its rope. A military machine which is magnificently organized and in perfect running order, but which lacks fuel—lacks fuel because the supply has practically run out. A people so desperately morbid that in sheer defense against themselves they thrust blindly to the Pan-Germans and the junkers to lead them to that victory which they have been schooled for generations to believe is theirs by divine right."

Of the effect of this Marne victory on the Allied world the same paper says:

"We can speak of German defeat now as something more than an abstraction, something more than a vague hope of an indefinitely deferred future. We can speak of German defeat as a concrete, tangible objective of tomorrow. We know now that the old defeatist sentiment about the German lines being 'impregnable,' and the German armies being unbeatable, is a flabby bit of silliness. The enemy's victories have been won, so far as the West front is concerned, by superior numerical forces and by a willingness to spend human blood as no other nation would dream of doing. Now that numerical superiority has passed, practically, and we find that his sword is not a bit of finely tempered steel, but is very second-rate indeed."

Incidentally, notes the Washington Star, the Crown Prince "has again been shown the utter futility of his dreams of capturing Paris."

Concrete evidence of the great part played by the American forces in "mopping up" the Marne salient is supplied by General Mangin, who issued the following order of the day to the Third American Army Corps: "Shoulder to shoulder with your French comrades you threw yourselves into the counter-offensive. You ran to it like going to a feast. Your magnificent dash upset and surprised the enemy, and your indomitable tenacity stopped counter-attacks by his fresh divisions.

APROPOS OF WHAT KING GEORGE SAID TO MR. HOOVER

It was on the veranda of one of those fashionable hotels on the New Jersey coast where the only indication of the war is an occasional airplane buzzing overhead and the gray wool and clicking needles in the hands of the women. Two of these women sitting in their easy-chairs apart from the others had evidently plunged into one of those sudden and violent friendships which a vacation at the seashore seems so readily to nourish.

Said one of them: "I'm so glad to get away from housekeeping even for a short time. It's so difficult to get along with all those substitutes they're making us use instead of wheat. Fortunately, I stand in pretty well with Thompson, my grocer, and when I go marketing in my flivver I can get him to slip me an extra five pounds of white flour into the car without anybody noticing it. Then he charges it on the bill as something else, like washing soda or prunes."

"Well, my grocer isn't as agreeable as that," said her friend, "and it makes me furious that I have to buy all that silly cereal stuff every time that I want a little white flour. At that, I can only get a limited amount. I don't see what difference it makes if you or I use a little more or less. And now we're put back on sugar rations again. It's a shame! My husband has such a sweet tooth. He's got to have four lumps in his cup of coffee. I can't see that the extra two lumps make any difference."

The discussion about their wrongs had heated them somewhat, and they changed the position of their easy-chairs so that the ocean breeze might blow more directly upon them.

And yet that very day there appeared in the newspapers an item showing what remarkable things the women of America, fortunately so unlike these two, had accomplished by their food savings. Hoover, you will remember, appeared before King George of England. The King had sent for Hoover so that he might thank him for the great voluntary effort of the American people which had, he said, "supplied Great Britain with the vital margin of food which enabled her to pass over the winter."

Think of it! Dig into the real meaning of those cold words "the vital margin of food." The difference between health and sickness, the difference between hope and despair, the difference between the energy of accomplishment and the gnawing bitter desuetude of slow starvation.

And the food that America has saved has been a stream of life flowing not only into Great Britain, but also into France and Italy and the other Allied countries—a stream of life for men and women, and little children.

And who can tell how much the food that America has sent overseas has had to do with our recent glorious successes between the Aisne and the Marne?

It seems miraculous that at such trifling sacrifice we could do such tremendous good.

For, as you look back upon the rationing we have had to undergo, can you remember any real sacrifice in the way of giving up? Any man or woman who complained because of bread that wasn't quite white or sugar that wasn't sufficient should be sent to the trenches for a while so that the realization of what war really is might come to them.

The very substitutes offered in place of the rationed foods were often more palatable than the originals.

The large national advertisers were quick to seize this opportunity, not only to save such food as wheat, but to enable America to save without suffering. They not only changed their products to conform to the Food Administration's requirements, but through the machinery of national advertising they were enabled to tell millions of people about these new requirements.

Their advertisements not alone urged the saving of wheat, but showed what could be used in the place of wheat. And it is always easier to get a man to stop doing or eating a certain thing when you give him something else to do or eat instead.

And this we believe is a splendid illustration of the value of the national advertising machine which has been built up to such an extent that it functions throughout the country—an illustration of its value at all times, but especially in war times.

It enables the United States Government and any large producer of foodstuffs or anything else to speak directly and forcefully to the consumers of the entire nation.

Advertising is a means of reaching the entire thinking population of the United States with the least expenditure of time, money, and man power.

FRESH PORK TWO DAYS

The War Department authorizes the following:

Fresh pork is now being used to the troops in the camps and cantonments throughout the United States two days in every 10 as a temporary substitute for fresh beef. There is an abundance of fresh pork at this time, while the supply of fresh beef is not up to normal requirements. This temporary substitution will mean the saving of large quantities of beef and is expected to relieve somewhat the recent strained prices for that commodity. The action was taken on the recommendation of the Subsistence Division of the Quartermaster Corps.

WEALTH PUT IN BONDS HASN'T BEEN MISSED

America Has Not Begun Yet to Really Sacrifice to Lend to Boys.

BY DELLA THOMPSON LUTES
Author of "My Boy in Khaki" and Editor of American Motherhood.

There is more than one way to fight. There are sea, land, air battles. There are also battles in the pantry, at the kitchen stove, and on the front piazza. Yes, there are even battles in the pocket book.

Unless every person left in America gets into the fight somewhere along the line, the soldiers at the front will have to fight just so much harder, just so much longer, lose so much more blood—give up so many more lives.

Of course the war might be won if you—just you—did nothing to help. But when you read these words, a good many thousand others are reading them. So, if you laid down on the job to let the boys fight for you, and every other you of thousands did the same thing, who would feed the boys who are fighting? Who would clothe them, nurse them, entertain them, munition them?

In America there is plenty of money—yet, even though billions of dollars have been raised since we entered the war. The money already raised could be spared as well as not. We have not yet learned to go without in order that we may loan our money to the boys. Uncle Sam handles it, but it goes to the boys. Into the equipment for them, clothes and blankets to make them comfortable, and guns and ammunition to save their lives—and ours.

It is not our fault that there is war. We went in because a decent man cannot stand by and see a bully beat a weaker creature to death, violating every rule of the game.

And now that we are in it we must fight to the last ditch to rid the world of the horrid monster which brought this cataclysm of blood and death upon us. We must fight to the last ditch, and to the last man—and woman.

The men who plow and sow and raise more produce are fighting.

The men who work in factories and shops and ship yards are fighting.

The men and women who work in government offices are fighting.

The women who stay at home are fighting—if they play a square game.

Every person who buys a Liberty Bond is fighting. Some are fighting harder than others because some sacrifice more than others in order to buy their bonds, but all are fighting.

The boys are giving up—everything. They need our help. They will fail if we fail them.

CENTENARY DAY

One of the most interesting features of the Kentucky conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which convenes Sept. 4th, at Cynthiana, will be the "Centenary Day" which will be observed Sept. 5th. Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, Va., will preside.

Among the speakers who will present the Centenary program will be Dr. E. H. Rawlings, Dr. J. J. Stowe, and Mrs. R. W. McDonell, of Nashville, Tenn., and Miss Belle H. Bennett, of Richmond, Ky., President of the Woman's Missionary Council.

The subjects to be discussed on Centenary Day will be "World Reconstruction After the War," "God's Call to the Church in a World's Crisis," "The Church's Opportunity to Get Out of Littleness Into Bigness." Bishop Denny will be one of the principal speakers. A leading layman will discuss "Can We Put It Over," and a stereopticon lecture will show the needs of the mission fields.

This year's annual conference session promises to be one of the most interesting and important in the history of the organization, and while the Centenary Movement is already well known to the members of the conference, great interest will be aroused by the coming of these specialists who are highly trained in missionary activities.

The Centenary Movement includes a world program based on a careful survey of need and opportunity, and a vigorous campaign will be made to release the prayer power of the church by enrolling tens of thousands in the "Fellowship of Intercession" and training them as prayer helpers. The program also includes a "Stewardship Drive" to secure enrollment of millions of Methodists who will acknowledge their stewardship by the payment of the tithe.

During the next five years of the Centenary celebration there will be an earnest appeal made for life service, and strenuous efforts will be made to recruit a large number of new workers for the ministry, home and foreign missions, and for service in the local church.

In the next five years, the Southern Methodists expect to raise $35,000,000 to be applied to war work, home and foreign missions, and church extension.

We understand that there are so-called salesmen going around stating to grocers and others that sugar warehouses are "over-running" with stock of sugar in New York and elsewhere.

Such talk as this is German propaganda. If there was plenty of sugar for everybody, why in the world would the Food Administration be trying to conserve the stocks of sugar?

The matter of sugar for home consumption, for our soldiers and our Allies is the biggest problem the Food Administration is up against.

ARE YOU GUILTY?

A FARMER carrying an express package from a big mail-order house was accosted by a local dealer.

"Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express, and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and builds up this locality."

The farmer looked at the merchant a moment and then said:

"Why don't you patronize your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know that you had that stuff I have here."

STUDENTS' ARMY TRAINING CORPS

The Students' Army Training Corps is the name given to the military organization to be perfected in the colleges this fall.

All able-bodied students in the college where a corps is organized may enroll or enlist. The enlisted student does not receive pay, because he is on inactive service. He is, however, in the military service of the United States. He may attend camp for six weeks during the summer, when he receives pay.

His relation to the draft:

The member of the Students' Army Training Corps is a volunteer in military service. He will, however, register when he reaches the age and upon notice by the President. The draft board will not call him for induction as long as he remains a member of the Students' Army Training Corps.

Not an exemption plan:

This is not a plan for the exemption of college students. The purpose of the plan is to provide for the very important needs of the army for highly trained men as officers, engineers, chemists, doctors, administrators. The plan is an attempt to mobilize and develop the brain power of the young men of the country for those services which demand special training.

The presumption is that, for the next year, the largest proportion of the student body reaching age will be used to supply the officers needed for the army. It is understood that at least four or five times as many officers will be required as the total number who will be graduated from all American Colleges and Universities. Enlistment in the S. A. T. C., therefore, while it does not promise an Officer's Commission, is at the present the plainest road leading to that direction. Enlistment may be cancelled by withdrawal from college.

Opportunity will be given for the enlisted student who so elects, to transfer from army to navy or to be assigned to active service in one of the various special corps.

Regular uniforms, including hats, shoes and overcoats, will be furnished free to all members of the S. A. T. C., by the government. Officer instructors and military equipment will be provided by the War Department.

BUSINESS PROSPERITY

EFFICIENT ADVERTISING

Every wide-awake Business Organization knows that the principal cause of inefficiency in Advertising is not Advertising as a Method, but its being poorly done.

Concrete examples fully demonstrate that forceful, persistent, regular, timely, truthful advertising brings results.

It not only informs the reader what is on the market for him to buy, but at the same time he is shown where his wants may be supplied.

The Weekly Newspaper, more than any other medium is the mouthpiece of any given city or community.

To its columns people turn first for the latest news. This is only natural. Next they read the advertisements.

If the Advertisements are carefully prepared, well laid out and given appropriate typographical form, the advertisement will be read as welcome news.

Think this over, Mr. Merchant. If YOU have not the time to prepare readable copy, experience teaches us that it is far better for you to allow us to assist you in preparing your copy.

When this is done and the Advertising placed in a Medium with a 2,000 plus weekly circulation, you will find more dollars in your Cash Register, more new customers in your store and an absence of stock to be carried over, or sold out of season at a possible loss.

The Mt. Sterling Advocate meets the requirements mentioned above. A splendidly featured medium for the advertiser, carefully edited with the latest bulletins of the war, other National affairs and alive with local news.
